

When Will the Trend Stop?

- The State of Georgia has highest per-capita incarceration rate in the nation and the largest percentage of adult population under correctional supervision in the nation.
- More than 55% of male prisoners and 65% of female prisoners in Georgia are parents of minor children
- 3 of every 10 black youths will lose the right to vote if the current incarceration rates continue.

Who is tirelessly working to inform, empower and enlist members of our communities? Who is transforming lives, reducing crime, and implementing community safety programs that give adults, youth and children the ability to escape poverty, crime and incarceration?

The Answer is Uplifting People, Inc.

Uplifting People Inc. and its network of partners have the capacity to empower our communities to take action, and to deliver and sustain comprehensive client center services and programs that reduce crime and incarceration. Our essential purpose is to promote public safety by involving citizens in their community. Also helping to provide quality services to the hundreds of individuals incarcerated and released from incarceration through delivering the capacity to be successful law abiding citizens.

What Are the Results?

One of our success stories is Allen. Allen was passed from foster home to foster home, a drug and alcohol abuser who consequently ended up incarcerated several times. Over a period of four years with Uplifting People, the program provided Allen assistance and support in mentoring, counseling, housing, and employment. Today Allen is a successful and productive citizen, along with a promising career. He is also achieving his very own dreams of purchasing a home!
